Meeting Monday to Discuss Bringing Natural Gas Service to Wyalusing

David Keeler

Leatherstocking Natural Gas Company of Corning, NY, will provide an update on the status of bringing natural gas service to Wyalusing borough residents and businesses at a meeting set to take place on Monday, Aug. 29 at the Wyalusing Fire Hall starting at 6:30 p.m.

Leatherstocking officials first announced its interest in bringing natural gas service to the borough, as well as Wyalusing Township, at a public meeting in July 2012 and then followed up with a second meeting about a year later

Since then, borough and township residents have been surveyed regarding their interest in using natural gas should it become available.

In March 2015, the Elk Lake High School began fueling its boilers with natural gas provided by Leatherstocking. The company also provides natural gas service in Montrose and elsewhere in Susquehanna County.
